Information Report regarding Children with Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities

Redesdale Primary School is a fully inclusive school which ensures that all children achieve their potential personally, socially, emotionally, physically and educationally.

Our Information Report lets you understand how we support children with special educational needs and disabilities.

We consult with children and their families by meeting with parents regularly through SEND reviews, parents' evenings and informal meetings. These can be prompted by parents, teachers or external professionals.

How will school support my child and their additional needs?

Children are identified as having a special educational need when their level of progress and/or attainment has become a cause for concern. Interventions are quickly put in place to cater for individual needs.

Who will explain this to me?

Our Inclusion Leader (SENDCO) oversees all support and progress of any child requiring additional support across the school.

We will let families know about any concerns about a child's learning by contacting and arranging an information meeting to discuss next steps. Class teachers will liaise with the Inclusion Leader (Mrs.Younger) to discuss matters further.

What support is provided for my child?

When a child is identified as having special educational needs, we support their development and progress by using provision maps to monitor the support given to all children with additional needs and to review the use of resources to maximise their effectiveness. Quality first teaching, small group work, individual support and support within the classroom should ensure your child meets their individual targets. Individual Support Plans will allow class teachers to differentiate work and provide support where needed. Individual support is used to teach, practise and develop skills related to targets on their Support Plans. Support staff will have a clear understanding of the child's targets and how to achieve them.

Support staff are placed where they are needed throughout the school to support children's progress and independence. One to one and small group work is encouraged, where needed, to support individual children's needs. Interventions are put into place and these are reviewed on a regular basis by the class teacher and the Inclusion Leader (SENDCO).
